Repeated Reading

Time yourself reading the passage each night for one minute and keep track of how many correct words per minute you read. Record your reading below.

When he was young, Eric Velasquez stayed with his grandma every summer. They played records and danced. Sometimes his grandma let Eric pick the records. One of Eric's favorite things to do was to sketch the album covers. Eric liked to play Grandma's favorite song. She placed her hand over her heart. She closed her eyes and sang along.

Grandma's nephew, Sammy, played in the best band in Puerto Rico. One day Sammy came to Grandma's house for dinner. He had a surprise for Grandma. He gave her his new record and two tickets to his concert.

Eric and Grandma went to the concert. The singer said the last song was for Grandma. He sang her favorite song. She sang along. Everyone placed their hands on their hearts.

As Eric grew up, he shared his favorite music with Grandma. She loved all of it. Eric still remembers listening to Grandma's favorite song when he was young.

My goal is to read at least 110 words per minute with 0-2 errors.

This is what I did:
